Maul Police Have a Fracas with Chinese Opium Smokers—Rev Lewis' Reading Room—Walluku Notes.

Walluku, Maui, February 18.—Jack Dow severed his connection with the Walluku sugar plantation last Tuesday, the 14th. Mr. Smith assumed his duties as head luma that day. Mr. Dow will commence upon his new duties as head luma at Kihei plantation the 1st.

Rev. J. M. Lewis will preach at the Walluku Foreign Church tomorrow morning (Sunday.)

Owing to Rev. Ault's presence in Honolulu to be ordained priest, there will be no services at the Anglican church at this town on Sunday the 26th.

Rev. J. M. Lewis will soon open his free reading rooms and library. The hall selected for the purpose is on Market street and adjoining the Salvation Army headquarters. Mr. Lewis has already a lot of magazines on hand. The room has been painted and renovated inside and out. It is the intention of the reverend clergyman to extend this system of free libraries to the outer districts, to Paia, Makawao, etc.; but of course he will study developments and see whether or not his exertions and energies will be appreciated, that is, by being fairly well patronized.

Last Tuesday, the 14th, Messrs H. P. Baldwin, W. J. Lowrie, McDonald and Judge John W. Kalua spent the entire morning up on the table land at Iao valley. The plantation managers and their electrician agreed upon a site for the new electric plant to be stationed at Iao for furnishing motor power for running the mills and pumps of the H. C. & S. Co. The location of the proposed electric plant is on the table land, a distance of about three or four miles from Walluku town. One of the small water-falls will be bridled and pipes will be run from there to the electric station for running the dynamo plant. There will be sufficient water, however, left for supplying the Walluku plantation and the town residents with water. It is claimed that the saving of the H. C. & S. Co., from the consumption of about $30,000 per annum.

Invitation are now out for the marriage of Julia Mahealani Akanaillili to Anthony F. Tavares, late clerk of the Second Judicial Circuit but now a successful practitioner before the Makawao district Court. The ceremony will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Awana at Makawao at 12 o'clock noon on Wednesday, March 1st. Rev. Dr. Beckwith will officiate at the marriage ceremony.

Judge W. A. McKay and A. S. Barnes left last Saturday for the island of Kahoolawe. They found Mr. Kynnersley, the solitary inhabitant of the island. After reconnoitering Mr. McKay returned home on Monday afternoon.

W. G. Scott, Deputy Sheriff of Maui, goes to Honolulu today per Kioia to appear as witness in the Aldrich case. He will also take down to Oahu jail four persons charged with various offenses.

A strong posse of about a dozen of Walluku police under Deputy Sheriff Scott made another successful raid at Camp No. 4. Spreckelsville plantation last Monday evening. The police as usual were armed with black-snakes and pistols. On arrival at the headquarters of the Chinese opium smokers and gamblers, the raiders left their horses outside and walked boldly into the camp. The police were in the act of handcuffing a few of the celestials caught smoking, when the general alarm was given by some of the Chinese, and the result was nearly the whole members of the camp, about two hundred in number, came rushing to where the police were, and a general fight was the consequence. The Chinese freely used clubs, stones, and in fact whatever missiles they could get hold of, and the air was soon filled with flying weapons. The police, finding they were outnumbered, attempted to drive back the invaders at the ends of black-snakes, but finding this impossible a few shots were fired which proved effective. Six of the Chinese were brought as prisoners to Walluku jail that night, and when their mates were being led to jail the entire herd of Chinese pursued the police as far as outer gates, hurling rocks and clubs, some taking effect on the back of the head of Mr. E. Rogers, who also had a very severe cut on his left leg from coming in contact with ugly looking barbed wires, while galloping home with prisoners. The six Chinese were tried before Judge McKay the following morning for opium in possession, and also for pakapiao tickets which were found in their possession. The six Chinese were all found guilty and fined $30 apiece, which means three months working on Walluku roads.

Two wooden cottages near Walluku Depot, and belonging to a Portuguese named Sardinia were burned to the ground on Thursday evening. The occupants of the houses were away at the time taking in the Kikapooos when the fire took place. Sheriff Baldwin and Officer Keanu near the place at an early hour during that evening and Mr. Baldwin remarked about smelling smoke somewhere, but there being poi shops in the vicinity, the officer remarked that the smell emanated from the poi shops, and that put a stop to a suspicion of the existence of any fire. Fifteen minutes later flames enveloped the two wooden buildings, and there being scarcity of water, as is the general thing with Walluku, very little hopes were ever entertained of saving the doomed buildings. The loss on the two buildings may be in the neighborhood of two hundred dollars, and not covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is still a mystery, whether incendiarism, instantaneous combustion, or carelessness, most likely the latter.

May be Andre's Body.

Krasnovarek (Siberia), Feb. 10.—A field mine owner named Monastyrskhin received a letter, saying that a tribe of Turgesos, inhabiting the Timur peninsula, North Siberia, recently informed the Russian chief of police of the district that on Jan. 7 last, between Komo and Pit, in the Province of Yeniseisk, they found a cabin constructed of cloth and cordage, apparently belonging to a balloon. Close by were the bodies of three men, the head of one badly crushed. Around them were a number of instruments, the uses of which were not understood by the Turgesos. The police chief has started for the spot to investigate. It is believed that the bodies are those of the aeronaut, Herr Andree, and his companions.
